

MILLIONS DID NOT VOTE.

An analysis of all the vote of all the States on the 6th instant show that over one-third of the voters did not exercise the right of suffrage. A comparison of the vote of 1894 with that of 1892 discloses the fact that there has been very large Republican gain in the States east of the Missouri Democrats in many of the States kept away from the polls and did not vote at all.

Professor Waite, the statistician, has ascertained from the returns that over 4,000,000 voters did not avail themselves of the right of suffrage. This lack of interest in the election is attributed to hostility or lack of faith in the present Administration. In New York State alone the registered vote was 400,000 short of what it should have been. In Michigan and other States the total Republican vote was no more than in 1892, but the Democratic vote was much less. In many of the Western and Southern States the People's party vote was greatly in excess of that polled for Weaver and Field in 1892. In some States the People's party vote increased several hundred per cent. In California the vote for Webster for Governor was about one hundred per cent greater than that given to Weaver in 1892.

There is general dissatisfaction with the old parties in many of the States, and the third party is drawing heavily from their ranks. In New England and New York the disaffected did not vote, while in the Western States many who did vote cast their ballots for the third party candidates. Clevelandism demoralized the Democratic party and broke up the Solid South.

THE ISSUES OF 1896.

The newspapers friendly to silver are urging Congress to pass a free coinage bill as soon as it convenes in December. The Omaha Herald says the friends of silver in the present Congress should make a determined effort to pass such a bill and send it to the President for his signature. If the President approves the bill then silver will be restored to its former standard; if he vetoes it the issue of 1896 will be before us. The Democratic party sustained an overwhelming defeat at the late election. Its overthrow was due to the dull times, which political economists attribute to the adoption of the gold standard. A free coinage act would materially improve the condition of the people. It would enhance the price of every product of the farm and factory, increase the demand for labor, stimulate enterprise, put more money in circulation and restore general confidence. That being generally understood the veto of such a bill would make the free coinage of silver the paramount issue of the Presidential campaign of 1896 and the party that opposed it would go to the wall in spite of the millions of Wall street.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Many successful candidates all over the State are no doubt asking themselves the question whether or not office is worth seeking, after figuring the cost of getting it. Those who squandered many checkers during the heat of battle and went under, realize how unprofitable office hunting is when the object sought is won, and when they meditate on the cost of the battle that is fought and lost, then philosophical thought enters their minds with heavy tread and solemnity and makes a deep if not lasting impression. Those who meditated seriously on the uncertainties of elections and saved their checkers can take defeat with philosophical calmness.—Elko Independent.

The Silver State, in honor of the recent victory of the Silver party of Nevada, will give a grand ball in Winnemucca on the night of November 28, 1894. (Thanksgiving eve) which everybody in the State is cordially invited to attend, including Republicans, Democrats, Populists, Silverites and their lady friends. The best of music will be furnished and admission will be free. Nixon

General Ezeta is on his way to San Francisco, where he expects to remain one month. It is surmised that he comes to San Francisco because he can plot better for an uprising in Salvador than he can in Mexico.

The number of enlisted men of the National Guard of California who served during the strike of last July was 3,332, and the number of officers 303. The amount which the State owes these men foots up to $140,835 57.

The outrages of the beastly and swinish Turks in Armenia ought to call down on the Ottoman Empire the vengeance of the civilized world. If the reports of the outrages are true the Turks are worse than Apache Indians. Nothing will ever be done regarding it however, except a storm of protest from newspapers all over the world.

The Southern Pacific Company is making a systematic attempt to secure patents to all unoccupied mineral lands lying in the odd sections within the limits of the railroad grant, which covers pretty much of all the most valuable part of Southern Oregon mining district, and people have arisen almost at one man to protest against this action.

The Italian vote is the balance of power in this country, and as votes the Italian goes the country. Very few of these voters can read or write, but they determine each year who shall be our country officers and who shall manage the money of the taxpayer. This is not a desirable state of affairs yet no one will deny its existence.

The Report of the Governor of Alaska submitted to the Secretary of the Interior shows the Territory to be in a flourishing condition. The population is estimated at 32,000. Good progress in education has been made. The mining and fishing industries are increasing in importance and extent, and to missionaries is attributed much of the present prosperity.

The cleanest paper in California is the Record Union, the most fearless the Sacramento Bee, the most logical the Stockton Mail and the most incisive the Oakland Times. A Californian, to have the politics of the State at his finger's ends, and to know what is going on and enjoy four different styles of journalism, all good, should subscribe for all of these papers and pay for them in advance.

At Spokane Saturday the A. P. A. protested against an ordinance allowing St. Joseph's Hospital, a Catholic institution, and the Fannie Padlock Hospital, an Episcopal non-sectarian institution, $50 per month for caring for the city's indigent sick. A heated discussion was followed by a vote on a motion of the Hospital Committee that the ordinance be passed. The motion was defeated, 9 to 7, while a motion to postpone action indefinitely was carried, 11 to 5, the votes indicating that the A. P. A. has control of the City Council.
